

Where to Buy Zero-Waste Moisturiser in the UK

Finding an eco-friendly, zero-waste moisturiser in the UK can often feel like an impossible task.

Because it seems like every single cosmetic product on the market comes packaged in a ridiculous amount of plastic.

Whether it's the plastic container, the plastic label, the plastic wrap or the plastic bag that it comes in...

**Sigh*...*

It's enough to make any zero-waster in the UK pull their hair out in frustration!

However, getting your hands on a plastic-free moisturiser isn't something we should give up on.

Because, these all that plastic packaging isn't biodegradable.

It ends up piling up in landfill sites. Floating in the ocean. Killing our wildlife. Littering our landscape. And contributing to the global climate change crisis.

We need to find zero-waste alternatives.

But fear not!

We've searched high and low to uncover the very best plastic-free moisturisers available in the UK so you can uphold your eco-friendly principles and keep taking care of your skin.

Here are the best places you can buy zero-waste moisturiser in the UK.

1. <https://www.wearthlondon.com/>

Wearth is an amazing online marketplace which offers ethical and eco-friendly products created by an array of independent UK brands. This includes everything from zero waste moisturisers, skincare and toothbrushes, right the way through to zero-waste gift wrap, jewellery, homeware and gifts.

Their plastic-free moisturisers include:

- White Witch Organic Anti-Oxidant Skin Conditioner

This gorgeous moisturiser comes in a reusable glass jar with a cork lid. It's completely organic, handmade, and made from the finest natural ingredients. Containing a nourishing blend of starflower oil, wild orange essential oil and sandalwood essential oil, it will also help reduce blemishes, soften and smooth the skin and help reduce dark spots.

Did we mention that it's also vegan-friendly?

2. BeautyKubes.co.uk

BeautyKubes was created when an award-winning natural cosmetics company, Eve of St. Agnes, vowed to make a difference to the global problem with plastic pollution by starting at the root- the products we use everyday in our homes. Their moisturisers are vegan-friendly, zero-waste and come packaged in pretty eco-friendly aluminium jars.

We've fallen in love with these two:

- Eve of St. Agnes Hydrating Facial Silk

This eco-friendly, natural facial moisturiser is luxurious, creamy and great for normal to dry skin types.

With a nourishing base of jojoba oil, macadamia nut oil and cocoa butter, added hyaluronic acid for anti-ageing benefits and the fragrance of frangipani, blood orange and champaca flowers, you'll feel utterly spoilt with this one. (It was a Gold Winner at the 2017 Green Parent Awards too!)

3. <https://www.soapnuts.co.uk/>

SoapNuts is a family-run business in the UK who create vegan, sustainable, cruelty-free products which have won numerous awards for their range of biodynamic skincare, haircare and laundry soap products.

Their products are especially wonderful if you suffer from sensitive skin, you're a fan of Ayurveda and you just want to make sure you're making the kindest skincare choice.

Here's our top pick:

- Botanic Man Balm Moisturiser

Calling the zero-waste men out there! This award-winning All-in-One Balm is an incredible vegan-friendly, organic, natural skincare option that doesn't compromise the earth for the sake of taking care of your body.

Containing famous soapnuts, plus other nourishing oils like cocoa butter, shea butter, jojoba oil and hemp, it's nourishing, non-greasy and great for those who don't like a ton of bottles in their bathroom.

They even offer two varieties: Bay and Lavender or Sandalwood and Orange, both of which are soothing, anti-oxidant and anti-inflammatory.

4. Etsy

You might be surprised to hear that Etsy, the website better known for its crafts is also a gem when it comes to finding plastic-free moisturising products.

We love these two:

Sol DeLuna Crafts- Turmeric Body Balm

If your skin is crying out for SOS, give this plastic-free moisturiser a try. It's unscented, vegan, natural and works miracles on acne, scars, stretchmarks and inflammation.

Created using a range of natural healing oils including raw shea butter, babassu oil, turmeric oil, mango butter, cocoa butter and sweet almond oil, you'll relieve itching, soothe dryness, heal scars and even give your acne the boot without going anywhere near a nasty plastic tub.
